

For Immediate Release

April 18, 2012

GAMING LABORATORIES INTERNATIONAL REP DISCUSSES RACINO MANAGEMENT & SLOT SECURITY

Tucson, AZ — Kevin Mullally, general counsel and director of government relations at Gaming Laboratories International, LLC joined the Advanced Law racing class Wednesday evening to shed light on gaming security and integrity from a racino perspective. With the growth of the racetrack-casino market, students are exposed to both aspects of the industry in order to gain an understanding of the added challenge that comes with managing a racino.

In a presentation entitled “Slot Machine Verification”, Mullally discussed how slot machines are tested and approved for use and why doing so is vital for both managers and customers alike.

ABOUT THE RACE TRACK INDUSTRY PROGRAM:

The University of Arizona Race Track Industry Program offers both a Bachelors and Masters degree program with an emphasis on the pari-mutuel racing industry and hosts the annual Symposium on Racing & Gaming held every December in Tucson, Arizona.

CONTACT: Doug Reed
520 621-5660
dreed@ag.arizona.edu

